SECTION L
TERMS OF REFERENCE

TERMS OF REFERENCE FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF KWAZULU-NATAL PUBLIC TRANSPORT SUBSIDY POLICY

DIRECTORATE: PUBLIC TRANSPORT SERVICES

1. PURPOSE

KwaZulu-Natal provincial Department of Transport intends to develop a KwaZulu-Natal Provincial Public Transport Subsidy Policy with the intention to address and eradicate the imbalances and skewedness in provision of public transport system in the province as well as the inequitable distribution and allocation of subsidy in the communities. The main purpose of this Terms of Reference (ToR) therefore is to invite suitably qualified and professional service provider(s) to submit proposals for the development of the KwaZulu-Natal Public Transport Subsidy Policy that will assist the Department to take informed and justifiable decision when prioritising the distribution and allocation of subsidy in certain community settings.

2. BACKGROUND

Effective and efficient public transportation system is an essential part of the development of any country. In South Africa, the public transport system is comprised of three main modes of transport - rail system, bus industry and minibus taxi industry. Rail and the bus industry receive subsidy while the minibus taxi industry does not receive any form of financial assistance from government.

In the 2013 National Household Travel Survey (NHTS), findings revealed that 68.8% of South African households use taxi services daily, followed by commuter bus (21.1%) and commuter rail operations. Majority of the subsidised services are concentrated in and around urban and/or metropolitan areas where greater work opportunities and high economic activities are found. Deep rural settings receive a small proportion of subsidy although it is the area where the majority of the poorest of the poor reside. The taxi industry conveys 68.8% of South African households compared to other modes but does not receive any form of financial assistance.

KwaZulu-Natal Department of Transport embarks on this project because it was to address the inequities and disproportions alluded to above. The Provincial Public Transport Subsidy Policy is developed from the backdrop that there is no subsidy policy in South Africa. The White Paper on National Transport Policy of 1996 is the only available crucial document that forms the basis for public transport policy in South Africa. Although other policy prescripts, position papers and strategies have been developed and adopted over time to expand on the White Paper, none of these are able to provide explicit details on the fundamentals such as the rationale for subsidisation and equitable distribution as well as allocation of subsidies amongst communities (beneficiaries).

Irrefutably, public transport system has over the past decades generally evolved at an alarming velocity. This has almost rendered old policies obsolete, bringing about the need for new innovations, thinking and solutions. Hence the Department has seen the need of this project.

3. AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

The point that effective and efficient public transport is one of the critical contributors of economic growth cannot be over-emphasized. Public transport is as much a basic need for communities as are water and electricity. Therefore, challenges faced by communities on daily basis in the public transport supply and demand have necessitated an urgent need for restructuring and improvement. For these reasons, the Department invites proposals from experienced service providers to develop a Provincial Public Transport Subsidy Policy, which will help to outline short, medium- and long-term subsidy reforms in the province and ensure efficient resource distribution and allocation.

4. SCOPE OF WORK

4.1 The scope of the project will include, but not limited to, the following:
