SECTION 3: BACKGROUND, OVERVIEW AND SCOPE OF REQUIREMENTS

1 BACKGROUND

Transnet Freight Rail (TFR) has a rail network of 30 400 track kilometers ('km') comprising 20 953 km route of which 12 801 km comprise the core network. Without a concomitant maintenance intervention to the Rail Network Infrastructure, the network will deteriorate. The deteriorating condition of rail infrastructure presents significant challenges in promoting the most economically effective movement of freight (Railway). TFR Rail Network department maintains this rail network infrastructure through its twenty two (22) rail network depots for the safe and reliable passage of trains. This maintenance work is essential to keep the rail infrastructure in a safe and service worthy condition.

For Transnet to play its role in moving the commodities from the Road to Rail transportation, it must ensure that the Railway Infrastructure is well-maintained (A-Standard), highly reliable and running at its optimum levels. The Railway infrastructure comprises of:

- Permanent Way (abbreviated to Perway);
- Electrical (Overhead Traction Equipment [OHE] & Substations);
- Train Authorization Systems (Signaling); and
- Telecommunications.

The figure below illustrates the various subsets of the railway infrastructure:

The Perway Infrastructure comprises the embankments, cuttings, tunnels & bridges, sleepers, ballast and rails (track). Ballast and Aggregate material (also known as formation material) form the track-bed upon which railway sleepers are laid. They are packed between, below, and around the Sleepers to:

- Avert vegetation that might interfere with the track structure
- To provide vertical and lateral stability to the track
- To reduce pressures from sleeper bearing area to acceptable stress levels for the underlying material.
- Provide immediate drainage of water falling onto the track.

- Resist vertical, lateral and longitudinal forces applied to the sleepers to retain track in its required position
- Provide resiliency and energy absorption for the track.

The figure below depicts the location of ballast and Formation material on a Railway Track:

2 EXECUTIVE OVERVIEW

Whereas Transnet is seeking a partner(s) to provide solutions for its Framing of a Standing Approved List for Ballast and Aggregate Material Through a Technical Evaluation of the Products nationally, it also seeks to improve its current processes for providing these Goods/Services to its end user community throughout its locations.

The selected Supplier/Service provider(s) must share in the mission and business objectives of Transnet. These mutual goals will be met by meeting contractual requirements and new challenges in an environment of teamwork, joint participation, flexibility, innovation and open communications. In this spirit of partnership, Transnet and its Supplier/Service provider(s) will study the current ways they do business to enhance current practices and support processes and systems. Such a partnership will allow Transnet to reach higher levels of quality, service and profitability.

Specifically, Transnet seeks to benefit from this partnership in the following ways:

- 2.1 Transnet must receive reduced cost of acquisition and improved service benefits resulting from the Supplier/Service provider's economies of scale and streamlined service processes.
- 2.2 Transnet must achieve appropriate availability that meets user needs while reducing costs for both Transnet and the chosen Supplier/Service provider(s).
- 2.3 Transnet must receive proactive improvements from the Supplier/Service provider with respect to supply/provision of Goods/Services and related processes.
- 2.4 Transnet's overall competitive advantage must be strengthened by the chosen Supplier/Service provider's leading edge technology and service delivery systems.
- 2.5 Transnet end users must be able to rely on the chosen Supplier/Service provider's personnel for service enquiries, recommendations and substitutions.

- The sampling of the material shall be conducted by TFR personnel, in the presence of the respondent.
- Respondents shall be informed of the sampling process and will be expected to have their quarries (or source of material) ready for sampling within a reasonable time period (1-2 weeks)
- Quarries that were granted approval not more than three years ago will not be subjected to technical testing since their approval is still valid. Such quarries must, however, submit a certificate of approval issued by Transnet.
