2. WIDE AREA NETWORK (WAN)

The ideal state technology architecture defined in the ICT Strategy requires the implementation of a stable, reliable, always-on, fast wide area network that will connect the different branches of CGE to the ICT services and applications at the Head Office and in the cloud environment.

Given the current technologies and specialised network service providers, CGE identified a Virtual Private Network (VPN) as illustrated in the figure below, to be the most efficient and effective way to achieve the above stated objective.

A virtual private network (VPN) extends a private network across a public network, such as the Internet. It enables a computer or Wi-Fi-enabled device to send and receive data across shared or public networks as if it were directly connected to the private network, while benefiting from the functionality, security and management policies of the private network. A VPN is created by establishing a virtual point-to-point connection through the use of dedicated connections, virtual tunnelling protocols, or traffic encryptions.

In order to achieve this CGE requires a completely outsourced networking solution, developed to provide end-to-end connectivity to multiple sites through a private, secure and reliable network solution. In addition, this network solution should provide for Multi-Protocol Label Switching (MPLS) that enables the consolidation of voice, video and various grades of data communications over a single VPN, which is secure and separate from the Internet.

Given the diverse locations of CGE's branches, different access options such as Fibre, wireless and Ethernet, with the appropriate Service Level Agreements (SLA) must be available;

In summary the solution- fully outsourced and managed network service Configuration and setup in line with the business requirements Implementation and Support which include SLA Service Level Agreement The prospective service provider should have footprint and infrastructure in all the nine provinces and should be able to provide support services 24/7 across the nine provinces.

- 3 Treasury Regulation 16A9 prescribes that accounting officers and accounting authorities must take all reasonable steps to prevent abuse of the supply chain management system and authorizes accounting officers and accounting authorities to:
 - a. disregard the bid of any bidder if that bidder, or any of its directors have abused the institution's supply chain management system and or committed fraud or any other improper conduct in relation to such system.
 - b. cancel a contract awarded to a supplier of goods and services if the supplier committed any corrupt or fraudulent act during the bidding process or the execution of that contract.
